

NO JAPS IN THIS COUNTY

(By Associated Press)
EUREKA, Cal., Feb. 24.—Humboldt county, far up on the northern California coast, is not worrying about the oriental immigration problem, for there are no Japanese in the county and for 36 years only one native of China has resided within its boundaries.

Chinese were expelled from Eureka, the county seat, when David Kendall, a city councilman, was shot and killed February 6, 1885, by a wild revolver shot fired during a Tong war here.

For a long time before Kendall's death there had been growing dissatisfaction among the citizens, and when the councilman was killed a mass meeting was held, committees named and Chinese were given 24 hours to leave the city under pain of death.

To make the warning more effective, a life-sized and businesslike gallows was erected in Chinatown. When the next steamer left for San Francisco, all Eureka Chinese and their movable property were on the wharf. Since then, no orientals, with one exception, have been allowed to live in the county.

The one exception is a cook who, according to tradition, was employed in 1885 by a trapper in Butler valley. The Chinaman was not molested, partly because of his remote position, but chiefly because he was married to a native Indian woman and had a family and also because he was employed by a man who was attached to him and who was known as a fighter.

The old Chinaman is still living in Butler valley. Last year's United States census figures gave Humboldt 15 Chinese, but no Japanese. Officials here believe the 15 Chinese are the offspring of this one cook and the Indian woman.

Occasionally and at long intervals attempts have been made to bring Japanese labor here, but the Chinese are not welcome. Several years ago a crew of Chinese fish handlers were brought to Loleta, a coast point, to help handle the salmon catch of the Eel river. They were at once locked in their car and the conductor told to get them out at once. No second call was necessary.

As recently as last summer, the Pacific Sea Products company, building a whaling station at Trinidad, 30 miles north of here, brought a few Japanese laborers up from San Francisco, but they no sooner appeared on the ground than the attitude of the residents made it plain they were not welcome. The Japanese then walked back to this city, where the first outbound train returned them to San Francisco.

Residents say the treaty between the United States and Japan is likely to make little difference here in the matter of oriental intrusion.

N. Y. POLICE USE WIRELESS

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—A potentially omniscient recruit has been added to the detective force of the New York police department—wireless telegraphy.

Through this "rooky"—for it is admittedly in the experimental stage—the atmosphere in a 300-mile radius is literally suffused with police alarms concerning stolen automobiles and other suspected criminality, it was announced today. Messages of this sort are dashed broadcast every night between the hours of 7:30 and 11:30, but the station atop police headquarters is kept open constantly to receive messages from other points.

The effectiveness of the radio as a detective agency is limited only to lack of co-operation, so far, of police departments of other cities; although officers in charge of the station here said they are receiving admirable co-operation by amateur operators within their receiving radius. Heading the messages sent out every night is a request that all amateurs hearing the alarms copy them and deliver their contents to their respective police departments. In the case of stolen automobiles, a brief description is given, including the make of car, the license number and the motor number.

Police Sergeant Charles E. Pearce, who originated the use of the radio for detective purposes, said there was no limit to its effectiveness if other police departments will install similar stations. Although good results have been attained through the amateurs, there are several elements in that method that hinder the work, he said. Aside from having to depend upon the honesty and zeal of the amateurs, they usually operate their stations as an avoca-

BEAUTY SHOW FOR CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—An educational beauty show, said to be the first of its kind and size to be held outside of Paris, will be staged here the week beginning February 28. The exposition will be largely for the purpose of proving to milady of 1921 the truth of the statement that beauty is only skin deep and that all women may be beautiful.

The show is being sponsored by nearly 500 manufacturers of practical aids to beauty, but one of its announced purposes will be to agitate against the excessive use of cosmetics and to demonstrate benefits which may be obtained from the proper use of the proper kinds of beauty aids.

There will be dozens of experts to instruct the women. Women artists, psychologists, health and dietetic specialists and beauty experts will assist at the exposition all with the same object in view, that of helping American women develop the beauty they have and to become more beautiful.

tion, and their whims may not always lead them to listen when the messages are sent.
